The test will halt all traffic, send pedestrians indoors; auxiliary police and regular police fores will man normal air raid alert posts to clear the streets and all other activity is expected to halt for the duration of the "red" phase of the alert.

The alert will start at 12:05 p.m. June 15 to "further test the over-all effectiveness of state and local attack warning systems and devices, to further test county and local plans for emergency mobilization and operations and to provide further opportunity for public practice of self-protection measures."

Can Make Vital Difference

County Civil Defense Director William G. V. eaver urged all countians to not only participate in the test, by halting vehicles, or going indoors during the period of alarm sounded by the sirens and bells but to "also consider in advance just what you as an individual would do in the event of an actual air raid and carry out that plan during the test alert. One of the great dangers that would occur durnig an actual air raid would be hysteria, and the best way to combat that is to make one's plans for ones own actions now, and practice them, so that if an attack is made, each individual will almost automatically carry out the plan he has previously made and practiced. To a large extent such practice means the difference between safety and death or injury in an actual air raid "

Weaver also said individual com-munities may carry out simulated LISTS PR events in their own area during the est period, to practice what the community would do in the event of

CHURCHES BACK CHILD CARE BILL

HARRISBURG (A)-The Pennsylvania Council of Churches, representing 19 Protestant denominations with a membership of more than 3 million, today declared its support of a child care bill now before the Legislature.

The proposal, drafted by various interested parties, has brought the opposition of Bishop George L. Leech of the Harrisburg Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church yesterday asked for public hearings on the bill,

The measure would grant county commissioners the authority and responsibility for certain children. The plan is supported by the Pennsylvania Citizens Assn.

Mrs. Helen E. Heydrick, Philadelphia, a spokesman for the council, said that as a result of present law "thousands of neglected children are going without any help."

"Every county in the state is organized and equipped to protect livestock but in the case of children there are a number of counties without organization or funds for their care or protection in time of crisis," she added.

Would Create Group To Study River Flow

HARRISBURG (A) - A senateapproved proposal to create a special commission to study distribution of water from the Delaware River is in position for floor action by the House next week.

Cleared yesterday by the House Rules Committee, the resolution would establish an 11-man group "to study and examine the various plans developed for the distribution of water from the Delaware Riv-

In addition it would look into a recent Supreme Court decision on the subject, legislation adopted by New Jersey for water conservation in the Delaware and similar bills now pending in the Pennsylvania Senate.

The resolution to create the commission was sponsored by Sens. Yosko (D - Northampton) and Scott (R-Carbon).

When white men came to what is now New England, they found the Indians chewing resins of spruce, cherry and sweet gum trees, much as moderns chew gum.

SEASIDE HEIGHTS, N. J. (A)-Fire driven by a stiff northeast wind reduced a four-block area of beachfront concessions to ashes today. Damage was estimated at a million dollars.

Fire companies from a 15 - mile area converged on this oceanfront resort as the flames threatened for a time to vault a narrow street into a congested hotel and rooming house section.

At least 84 amusement and food stands were leveled by the blaze that raged for about two and a half hours before 150 firefighters could bring it under control at about 8:30 a.m.

HARRISBURG (A) - The House Appropriations Committee today looked for one more round of hear ings to finish its item-by-item examination of Gov. Leader's proposed $1,800,000,000 budget.

Rep. J. Dean Polen (D-Washingon), chairman of the committee said the committee would wind up its review of the governor's program next week "if we have to hold hearings five days to do it."

Polen yesterday stepped up the tempo of the hearings by breezing through the budget requests of four departments in rapid - fire order Testifying were the departments of banking, agriculture, military affairs and revenue, which had appropriation requests totaling more than 23 million dollars-a comparitively small fraction of Leader's proposed budget.

Based On Tax Closing Secretary of Revenue Gerald A. Gleeson told the committee his department is seeking funds some 61/2 millions less than for the 1953. 55 biennium, but added the figures are "based on the sales tax expiring Aug. 31."

"However," Gleeson declared, "I would just as quickly like to point out, should you approve the budget, that I may have to come back for a request for additional monies to enforce any new tax program that may be enacted by the gener- spent Saturday at State College. al assembly during this session." 819,700 appropriation.

tional Guard." The budget request for the department is $5,910,000.

Asks $14,900 More Secretary of Banking Robert L. Myers asked the committee to endorse a $14,900 increase in his department's" budget so the department could hire another investigator for western Pennsylvania. He noted that all expenses of the department are paid by "the corporations and persons subject to supervision either by direct assessment or by license fees."

The department is seeking $202,-700 for administration and law enforcement in the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, which supervises sale of licenses to security dealers, salesmen, investment advisers and investment solicitors.

Go To Minnesota

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Deardorff, Dillsburg R. 2, have left for Minneapolis, Minn., where Deardorff will compete with farmers from 47 other states for four national outstanding young farmer awards. Last Tuesday Richard was honored at a testimonial dinner in Harrisburg for being selected Pennsylvania's Outstanding Young Farmer. Those attending the dinner from the Dillsburg area included Deardorff, his wife and parents, Harley Spoerlein, vocational agriculture instructor at Northern Joint High School; Chadwick Wagner and Donald Karns, officers of the Dillsburg Jaycees.

Deardorff, who farms a 200-acre dairy and poultry operation at Dillsburg R. 2, was cited in talks by State Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. William L. Henning, George C. Connor, general manager of Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, and Ralph Peters, president of the Pennsylvania Jaycees. The young farmer said his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fuhrman Deardorff, also Dillsburg R. 2, his wife and children and his faith in God were responsible for his success in farming.

SUSPECT USSR

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (A)-State Department officials suspect the Russian government has decided to accept the East-West division of Germany as being more or less permanent.

If that is true, it could have a profound effect on the Big Four talks proposed for Geneva next month since the unification of Germany is supposed to be a primary problem for consideration.

Speculation about Russia's German policy arises from the Soviet invitation to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit Moscow and discuss establishment of diplomatic relations

Another Possible Meaning

There is another possible meaning. As an alternative to accepting "two Germanies" permanently, Moscow could be setting out on a course which will lead it eventually to scuttle the Communist puppet regime in East Germany.

This possibility is regarded by informed officials here, however, as almost too incredible to contemplate.

Yet the standards for judging Soviet behavior have been so upset by Moscow's agreement to such things as the Austrian independence Treaty and the Khrushchev-Bulganin mission to Yugoslavia, that the experts are reluctant to explanations.

APPROACH

By ROWLAND EVANS JR. WASHINGTON (P)-Sen, Humph rey (D-Minn) said today the Eisenhower administration's approach to Big Four talks is marked by "doubts, fears and hesitations that a great nation like ours should not exhibit."

Humphrey and Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), Foreign Relations Committee members, in separate interviews urged President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles to set forth a clear and complete agenda for the projected "summit" meeting.

Rusia must be confronted with promises Stalin made to the United States and Britain at the Big Three wartime Yalta conference, the senators aid.

Ike's Position

"We got promises and agreements from Russia at Yalta that we should now insist on holding them to," Capehart said.

Humphrey attributed largely to "domestic politics" the "doubts and fears" he said have been repeatedly expressed by Eisenhower from the meeting which the West has proposed be held at Geneva in mid-July.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday: "Let's don't expect too much from the first one, but let us do hope that we have opened up a new . . . atmosphere in the whole busines, and maybe then our work will be fruitful instead of constantly frustrating."

Must Take Initiative Humphrey said the administration is "carefully laying the groundwork in case things don't go well. They can then exonerate themselves by saying, 'We told you so.' "

He said Eisenhower and Dulles appear "scared to face up to the questions that need to be and must be discussed," and he continued: "We must seize the initiative on this conference and we must go into it loaded down with good ideas thoroughly thought out. Of course we should alert people to the pssibility that the enference may fail. But we should not allow pessimism to throw a blanket of doubt over the whole conference."
